PA NEW C OBSERVES

Memorial Day services this year
are expected to be attended in greater numbers by veterans of the World war. As the men have grown older,
the significance of the day has grown upon them, and the services Sunday and Memorial Day are certain to be largely attended by all veterans who are able to get out.

The Y. W. C. A. building is practically never without the presence of a club, a study group, a class or committee. The annual report of the general secretary shows that during the past year 1,350 meetings of association-sponsored groups were conducted in the building, with a total attendance of 28,875. In addition, 433 meetings of non-association
groups were held, with a total attendance of 10,116.

Some real snowballs were being thrown the other day in one section of the city. A milk dairy was having its equipment defrosted and several young men put the frost to
"good" use.

As usual, parents will be invited to visit their daughters at the Y. W.
C. A. Camp East Brook this summer only on Fridays of each week from 4:00 to 9:00 p. m. If arrangements are made they may have supper in the camp dining room.

A terrible tempered Mr. Bang was among the motorists delayed by traffic this morning at the corner of East and Washington streets. A motorist driving behind him irritably tooted the horn of her roadster several times. Mr. Bang jumped out of his car, went back to the young lady and asked her PLEASE not to blow the horn because he COULDN'T HELP it if the traffic was at a standstill. He threw a disgusted look at her, then stomped
back to his own car to a cleared road of traffic. The young lady had to have the last word, so gave the horn a guilty little toot.

Poppy girls had the city pretty well under control this morning. It was an ideal day for the sale and the girls seemed to be doing fine.

Catch 1000 Trout At Spring Creek Project

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, May 26.—More than 1,000 trout, hook, brown and rainbow over ten inches in length,
were caught by sportsmen who vesterday attended the formal opening of the states' new stream improvement and trout raising project at Spring Creek, near Bellefonte, O. M.
Deibler, fish commissioner, reported
today.

Despite the rain, it was estimated that about 3,000 sportsmen and their wives attended the opening of the Spring Creek project which is intended to become an instruction center for woman anglers.

The section reserved for women is under the direction of Mrs. Edgar W.
Nicholson. Feminine disciples of Izaak Walton demonstrated their skill, two of them, Miss Carol Deibler, daughter of the commissioner,
and Miss Ruth Burk of Philadelphia, hooking the allotted two trout apiece.

As the third annual fishermen's
dinner of the Federation of Sportsmen's club of Centre county, held at State College, Deibler said he hoped the Spring Creek project will become the first step in a state-wide drive
for stream improvement.

Compromise To End Stock Market Battle

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, May 26.—Compromise will shortly end the long stock market battle, Senator Fletcher (D) of Florida, senate banking committee chairman, predicted today.

Conferees of the senate and house have agreed to conciliate their differences in such a manner that there will be not battles on the floors when the conference report is submitted, Fletcher said.

The basis for the compromise was reliably reported to be as follows:
Acceptance of the senate proposal
of a separate commission of five members, to be appointed by the president, as the stock market regulatory body instead of the house
provision for control by the Federal Trade Commission.

Indorsement of the fixed margin
provision of the house bill.

Washington, May 26.—A definite agreement to place regulation of the New York and other stock exchanges in the hands of an independent commission, to be named by President Roosevelt, was reached today by senate and house conferees
on the new stock market bill.

The conferees also approved the house provision, imposing a fixed margin requirement of 45 per cent on margin sales. They also voted to give the Federal Reserve Board authority to regulate brokers loans
and bank credits on stocks.

Report Needy Are Failing To Collect Plants

Free Vegetable Plants, Seeds And Fertilizer Still Uncalled For

Lawrence county's needy families
apparently are spurning a golden opportunity to receive free garden
seeds, vegetable plants and fertilizer. Only 50 per cent of the families that registered for them have called to collect their supply records today showed.

Executive Director E. H. Robinson
of the Lawrence County Emergency Relief board decided today to close the distribution at the close of business on Tuesday, May 29. By that time applicants will have had one week to collect.

The free distribution, for which elaborate efforts were made this year, is being conducted from a vacant store room at 308 East Washington street, the same place the seeds and plants were given out last year.

DENY REPORT

New Deal Critics Are Answered By Speaker Rainey

All Charges Against New Deal Policies Are Discounted By Aged Congressman

DEPRESSION IS BEING CONQUERED

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, May 26.—The prophecy of a new era of prosperity
was the answer today of Representative Henry T. Rainey, silver-haired speaker of the House of Representatives, to critics of the New Deal.
Speaking last night at the annual banquet of the Insurance Federation of Pennsylvania, Speaker Rainey
said:

"We are approaching rapidly another era of big business, big business in which the ordinary man
will participate, the kind of business which will not concentrate the wealth of the country in the hands of the few.

Charges Discounted
"We are going to preserve our capitalistic system; there is no room for communism in this republic. We are going to preserve it in such a way that the masses of the country will participate in its benefits. There may be casualties;
there will be, but we expect to make them as few as possible. We are rapidly proceeding toward the new day which is already dawning."

The speaker described the NRA
as a program "which socks the rich,
but uses all the methods that the rich used to get that way."

Discounting charges of critics of the administration that the national debt has been enormously increased, Rainey said:

"On February 28, 1933, we had
in cash in the treasury only $221-000,000; on the 31st day of March this year we had in cash over $2-000,000,000."

Rainey said it cost $41,000,000
to win the World War, but the depression will be conquered at a cost of less than $15,000,000,000.

SIX HURT IN STRIKE RIOT

Trouble Occurs In Cleveland
Taxi Cab Drivers Strike
This Morning

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
CLEVELAND, O., May 26.—Six men were hurt today when 125 Yellow Cab Co. drivers attempted to end their 23-day strike in defiance
of the Taxicab Drivers' Union.

Violence broke out at the offices
and garage of the company when men reporting for work were met by jeering pickets. Private guards
in an attempt to disperse the throng,
hurled tear gas bombs and precipitated a short-lived riot in which Louis Bruno, 30, a picket, was taken to Charity hospital with head injuries.

Police arrested another picket,
James Mason, on a charge of assault and battery. Six squads of police were rushed to the scene to prevent further disorder and possible destruction of property.

The trouble resulted from a decision of Yellow Cab employees to form a separate union to carry on negotiations with the company. The drivers were dissatisfied with the efforts of the Taxicab Drivers Union to achieve their demands. It was said, and believed they could accomplish more alone and by returning to their jobs.

Virginia Couple

(International News Service)
FREDERICKSBURG, Va., May 26
—Incoherent mumblings of an unconscious, badly battered youth may solve the mystery of the brutal attack on Milton Brown and his pretty sweetheart, Fanny Kurz, who died
from injuries received on lovers' lane
near here Sunday.

Brown, struggling back to consciousness at the Mary Washington hospital here, is piecing together
through his cries and mumblings the story of the attack.

Hunt Jealous Woman
His unconscious mumblings already have led department of justice agents handling the case to believe that a jealous woman aided by an embittered man may have been responsible for the attack which left the sweethearts half buried in a ravine as dead and later cost the life of the girl, who never regained consciousness.

Casting aside robbery as a motive
for the attack, the federal agents
have put several of Brown's girl friends under suspicion.

The federal operatives believe one of three girls with whom Brown was seen often before he became devoted to Fanny Kurz trailed him to the shady road Sunday night, bringing with her either a relative or some suitor. At least two persons are believed to have participated in the attack on the couple.

New Wilmington Man Is Drowned

Body, Of Missing Janitor Is Found In Little Neshan-
nock Friday Afternoon

FOUND BY YOUTHS
HUNTING CROWS

Missing from his rooms in the Thompson Apartments on Vine St., New Wilmington, since Sunday, the body of Meade Wilson, aged 65, was found by Wilbur Patterson and Ernest Smyser, two New Wilmington youths Friday afternoon at 3:30 in the Little Neshannock, a half-mile north of Vance's Grove.

Patterson and Smyser were hunting crows along the banks of the creek, when they noticed the body
partly submerged in the midstream.
They brought it to shore and notified Burgess Wallace McKean and Officer Glenn Martin, who summoned Coroner Orville Potter.

Identity Established
After bringing the body to shore
none was able to recognize who it was. Wilson had left his coat and hat along the bank of the stream and in looking through his pockets Coroner Potter found a money order receipt issued in 1932. Inquiry was made of Postmaster Clint White, revealing the fact that the money order had been issued to Wilson and those who knew the man were then able to recognize him.

Wilson, who did chores around
New Wilmington, was employed chiefly as fireman by the bank there.
He had been in poor health.

He had no relatives, Coroner Potter was informed.

W. R. Bumbaugh, who resides at Vance's Grove, stated that he noticed Wilson in that vicinity Sunday,
and that he acted queerly at the time.

Divorce Suit Of Lord Ashley Kept Secret

(International News Service)
LONDON, May 26.—Clouds of secrecy as impenetrable as a London
fog today shrouded the divorce suit
of Lord Ashley against Lady Ashley
in which Douglas Fairbanks, virile American motion picture star, has been named correspondent.

Fairbanks yesterday entered a defense against the charges of misconduct with Lady Ashley which formed the basis of Lord Ashley's suit. Other than that the charges were denied.

The nature of Fairbanks's defense
was unrevealed.

British laws which required close secrecy regarding details of divorce actions prior to trial, or while the issue still is undecided by the courts, caused all parties concerned to be extremely cautious in their statements. Fairbanks declined to discuss the case in any way.

TOLEDO, O., May 26.—
Orders to take the offensive instead of the defensive were issued by Brig. Gen. L.
S. Connelly to the Ohio National Guardsmen here today in a determined effort
to stamp out the bloody strike riots at the Electric Auto-Lite Co. plant.

Connelly ordered the troops to attack any crowds loitering in the vicinity of the plant and to keep them
dispersed.

The change in military tactics
came as federal mediators were working intensively in an effort to consummate a satisfactory peace
plan for submission to union leaders and officials of the strike-torn Auto-Lite plant.

Guard Dynamite Supplies
Heretofore, the guardsmen have go right now and do so. The soldier boys in the hospitals

A mother can come near say-

These are sad days for the umpire, who is doing what he can, but an umpire's life is dangerous for his life is on the pan. He may be an honest fellow, in his heart may be no guile, but he changes all that nonsense when he's umpired for a while. If the ball is on the corner and he says it is strike one, right away the fans get hostile and go looking for a gun. If the ball is wide and fly and he says that one's a ball, other fans grow apoplectic and deride his brass and gall. Oh an umpire's life is hectic, never knows just what to do, if he's right he's wrong with someone, weather's warm and eighty-

JAPAN WOULD DISCUSS NAVAL MATTERS

Bars Discussion Of China Policy

Ready For Preliminary Conferences With U. S. And Great Britain

NAVAL CONFERENCE TO OCCUR IN 1935

By JAMES R. YOUNG
International News Service Staff Correspondent

TOKYO, May 26.—Japan is willing to discuss naval matters with the United States and Great Britain prior to the 1935 naval conference, but questions affecting Japan's policy in China and Manchuria will be specifically barred.

This was learned today following a conference between Koki Hirota, foreign minister, and Admiral Mineo Osumi, naval minister. It was decided at this conference to accept the British invitation to a conference preliminary to the 1935 parity. Formal acceptance of the invitation will be forwarded after the cabinet approves it at a meeting scheduled for May 29.

The government's policy with regard to the preliminary conference will have three basic principles, it was learned.

Seeks Separate Conversations

First, Japan will insist on separate conversations between Great Britain and the United States and Great Britain and Japan. A tripartite discussion will be approved by Japan only in case the conversations take a favorable turn toward the Japanese position.

Second, before the preliminary conference is held, Japan is willing to exchange views with the United States and Great Britain through their respective ambassadors in Tokyo.

Third, the scope of the conversations will be specifically limited to naval matters and the China and Manchuria questions definitely barred.

Great Britain's proposals for a preliminary conference were presented today to Vice Minister of Foreign Affairs Shigemitsu, by Charles Dodd, British chargé d'affaires. Shigemitsu promised to give them careful consideration.

Scouts Omar Fink, East Brook 1, was awarded the safety badge; with Bill Bilger being warranted as a junior assistant scoutmaster. George Miller of Troop 12 qualified for handicraft, as did Don Wimer of the same troop. Joe Francis and Floyd Whitman came in from New Wilmington to receive badges in reptile study and electricity.

Troop 12 Gets Trophy

Commissioner Davis awarded Troop 12 the first aid trophy which signified them to be the council's 1934 first aid champions. The trophy an attractive plaque of hammered copper, has the first class scout emblem in relief, with the winning trophy number and score printed on the name plate. This trophy was worked out by Scouters Hainsworth of West Pittsburgh. Mr. Davis spoke of the fine work done by this troop's team in the recent accident near Zellenople.

Chairman Is Heard

Rev. Stump then spoke of the way in which scouts are sometimes apt to overlook the value of the commoner advancement in scouting, some scouts thinking that only Eagle rank is worthwhile. "We must know," he said, "that thousands of scouts never reach first class rank, and yet this achievement is very worth while indeed. It is a real honor to be a first class scout; for these boys then have the whole field of over one hundred merit badges opened to them; and sometimes a boy's life work is influenced by what he does in merit badge accomplishment. The Star and Life ranks are no mean attainments either, more thousands of boys never reach those titles."

Chairman Stump announced the next court of honor for Thursday evening, June 28; and the invitation of Troop 12 was accepted, the court to convene at the Second U. P. church on that date.

SPEEDING ACTION ON WAGNER BILL

man national industrial adjustment board to enjoin employers against unfair labor practices, determine what organization a majority of workers in a plant desired to speak for them, and act as an arbiter in other labor disputes when requested by both sides.

Modify Provision. The section in the original bill outlawing company-dominated unions is retained in the new draft, but the language has been modified in an effort to meet the objections of industrialists.

Under this legislation an employer would be compelled to meet with representatives of a majority of his workers, and if they reach an agreement it would be binding on all employees.

Explaining the measure, Senator Walsh said: "The objection of this bill is to give employees the right to freely organize without interference from employers in charge to bargain collectively with the latter."

"When a majority of employees organize and want to talk to their employer, he cannot, under this bill, shut the door in their faces. It makes it compulsory on him to talk with them. But this measure does not compel the employer to enter into agreements with his employees against his will."

Two Drivers Of Autos Are Held

Walter Duffy, New Castle, and John C. Tanner, R. F. D. 1, New Castle, were held on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated last night. Duffy was apprehended driving in Moravia street and Tanner in Butler avenue.

Tanner's car struck another machine which was parked along Butler avenue and almost struck the police auto which was seeking Tanner. It finally ran over a catch-basin and stopped in a yard.

Councilmen Putler, Davies, Holland and Alexander today are out of the city viewing roads which have been resurfaced with amiesite. Mayor Rayne stayed here to attend to any duties that may require his attention.

Woman Called As Witness In Election Probe

Woman Election Board Member To Be Called At Coyne Trial In Pittsburgh

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 26.—Advancing behind an incriminating barrage of testimony, federal prosecutors today planned to call Nell Lewellyn, attractive election board member and the first woman witness, to support their charges that State Senator James J. Coyne and 11 other "Big-Wig" Republicans plotted to steal the congressional election of 1932.

Testimony by James P. Bailey, discharged city assessor, charged that Patrick J. O'Malley, one of the defendants, was anxious that Miss Lewellyn go home on election night so that ballots needed by defeated candidates could be "doctored."

Three Singled Out

Coyne, his brother, Tom, and three other defendants were particularly singled out in the damaging evidence offered by the government yesterday.

O'Malley, according to Bailey's testimony, came to the latter election night with a message from Coyne, "the whole damn works is sunk—the senator sent me out to see you," O'Malley told him, Bailey stated.

Details of meetings in headquarters rooms at a local hotel, where the government charges the "vote-stealing plot" was hatched, were also offered for their record.

When Charles R. McCoy, judge of election in the 11th district of the fourth ward, refused to change ballots, according to his testimony, Tom Coyne told him:

"You're a helluva guy to be a judge."

Hubert Voight, film publicist, divorced Olive Hatch, noted swimmer. He testified she frequently had stayed late at night and then disturbed his sleep by using the typewriter.

Mrs. Ned Sparks signified her intention of fighting a divorce her husband, Ned Sparks, "Deadpan" film comedian, obtained recently in Juarez, Mexico.

Billie Dove's dog brought her a second lawsuit. Hardly had the ink dried on the $25,000 damage suit filed against her by Ruth Roland, star of silent pictures who asserted that Billie's dog "Stinky" had bitten her, when R. L. Sapp of Santa Monica sued Miss Dove for $5,000.

"Stinky" alleged Sapp, had taken a generous bite of his leg.

Lucy Doraline, film actress, filed suit to divorce Jorgen Von Dietz, Danish chemical engineer whose two suits against Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., were dismissed.

Betty Boyd, the actress, was declared by a court to still be the wife of Charles H. Over, Jr., their marriage twice was set aside, but it was testified they had taken a "second honeymoon" in Europe a few months after Over had obtained a preliminary divorce decree in 1932. The reconciliation apparently failed as Over obtained a final decree upon his return from abroad.

Good Response To Poppy Appeal

Annual Distribution Of Poppies Here By Vets Meets With Success

Indications this morning pointed to the fact that the annual Poppy Day sale of the Harry L. McBride Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, was meeting with success, a great number of people being seen on the streets wearing the emblem, symbolic of the sacrifices of the World War dead.

On each of the important street intersections in the downtown section of the city, volunteer workers and members of the Post and Auxiliary were stationed greeting the public with their appeal.

These Buddy Poppies are sold annually by the Harry L. McBride Post, along with the other V. F. W. posts over the country as a means of providing funds for relief work and of aiding the disabled veterans and widows and orphans in the National V. F. W. home at Eaton Rapids.

The motto of the V. F. W. is "Honor the dead by helping the living."

OHIO GUARDSMEN GIVEN ORDERS TO TAKE OFFENSIVE

supplies of five Toledo quarry companies.

Earlier this morning, authorities placed under arrest a man who gave his name as Thomas Meyer, 26. He was booked at police headquarters on a charge of arson following his arrest in the vicinity of the Auto-Lite plant. Reports had been circulated that a plot was in the wind to set off a series of incendiary fires at the strike scene.

Situation Intensified

Toledo, O., May 26.—With the situation intensified by the union's rejection of the peace proposal presented by Charles P. Taft, mediator for the federal department of labor, Ohio National Guardsmen today prepared for another seige of bloody riot clashes.

Throughout last night and early today, while efforts were being made by the federal mediators to bring an end to one of the nation's bloodiest strikes, mobs roamed the streets in defiance of militiamen, threatening life and property.

In one clash early this morning, Lieut. Ven Salbaugh of Lima, was struck in the thigh by a bullet, and Payton Cass, 41, was struck in the face with a tear gas bomb. Salbaugh's wound was not believed serious, but the bomb almost tore away Cass' lower jaw.

A bullet also shattered a window of a police car cruising in the strike area this morning.

Wild Scene

Last night, a wild scene was enacted near the Toledo City hall where a mob set off a youth who gave his name as Steve Kartos, 22, stripped him of all his clothing except a red necktie, and forced him to head a parade of about 300 persons. Several of the demonstrators were women.

Kartos finally was released from the howling mob by two truck loads of militiamen who were rushed to break up the demonstration. The youth, who said he had not joined the walkout from the Electric Auto-Lite plant, was on his way to a circus when he was seized by the rioters. He suffered painful abrasions at the hands of the mob.

As a result of the attack upon Kartos, National Guardsmen planned to afford protection today to former workers at the strike-torn Auto-Lite plant.

Casualty List

The casualty list this morning as the strike entered its third day of violence counted two killings, 14 persons wounded and more than 150 injured.

A peace proposal was presented to the union last night by Taft, who is the son of the late President William Howard Taft of Cincinnati, but it was flatly rejected by 1,900 strikers who met in National Hall to consider the plan.

Undaunted by the refusal of the strikers to accept the plan, Taft said further conferences would be held today in an effort to bring an end to the strike.

Class Night At Shenango High

Graduating Class Presents Clever Program On Friday Night

Scholastic worries were forgotten Friday night in the Shenango township high school, marks and classes and examinations were cast aside and the seniors made merry. It was the annual class day exercises, and for one night at least the world was theirs to do with as they would.

They told each other how good they were, prophesied great things for the class members, took a few humorous cuts at each other and the faculty, and ended by declaring peace between themselves and the junior class.

Mary Eagon delivered the class poem, an original effort which was surprisingly well done. Julia Houk also delivered an original poem and Glenn A. Reno rocked the house with his class knocker effort. It was all in fun and the shafts of witicism were not too sharply barbed. Robert Curry presented a violin solo.

Regis Arnold, who for the past four years has been running wild on the football field against opposing teams, presented the class will, and left everything to the people remaining behind, including the sunshine, the fresh air and the shrubbery out in front of the school. A lot of class B teams in this section will be delighted just to know that Arnold has left the school.

Mike Polenick plumed the realm of prophecy and told the class just what they would be and why in the next quarter of a century. Pearl Badger and Durwin Collingwood, class donors, gave the members "something to remember them by". President Fred Wilkinson presented the tomahawk to the junior class, which responded through its president, Louis Mooney.

It was a typical class night exercise, carefree and witty, an occasion when the young men and women will look back to with pleasure and envy years from now.

EVENING PARTY REVEALS MARRIAGE

Teachers of the West Side School were entertained at a dainty appointed dinner Friday evening at the home of Miss Theresa Cover on Beckford street, the affair being the medium through which the marriage of one of their number, Miss L. Sophronia Louer of Delaware avenue to J. Whan Hopper of Mt. Jackson, was announced. The ceremony took place April 15, 1933 in Philadelphia.

A long table was very attractive with a bridal party centerpiece and tall tapers in crystal holders. Places were set for eighteen, with a color scheme of green and white being developed in appointments.

In the table were little verses at the places which hinted that a surprise was coming. As the guests were leaving the table after a delicious meal, each one was presented with a miniature traveling case on which were instructions to travel into the living room where they were permitted to open them. The cases contained miniature marriage certificates bearing the names of Miss Louer and Mr. Hopper.

A basket of various sized and shaped packages was passed to the guests, and it was found that when these were opened they contained a linen tea towel to be hemmed. The remainder of the evening was spent with games as a pastime.

Mrs. Hopper is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Louer, of Delaware avenue and M. Hopper is the son of the late J. N. and Villa Hopper of Mt. Jackson.

O. M. K. CLUB PARTY AT KNOLL TOP FARM

At Knoll Top farm on the Edenburg road, the lovely home of Mrs. J. F. Miller received members of the O. M. K. Club Thursday evening.

All but one member attended. In memory of another member who has recently been called away, the late Miss Louise Bauman, a short memorial service was held.

The evening was later spent socially, and in serving a dainty repast Mrs. Miller was aided by Mrs. Elmer Shaffer and Mrs. Julian Miller. Club guests were Mrs. Anna Martin and Mrs. I. Davis.

On June 14 the club will motor to Allegheny, where they will have a casserole dinner and special meeting in the home of Mrs. Mary Hattenbaugh.

Union Students Dance.

One hundred and fifty students and guests enjoyed the annual senior-junior dance at the Union township high school gymnasium last night.

Colorfully decorated in green and white, with streamers stretching across the ceiling, the gym presented a most attractive sight for the guests who spent several hours dancing and in card playing. The card tables were arranged on the stage of the gym hall.

Cerle Royale.

Dr. and Mrs. George S. Jenkins were hosts to the Cerle Royale club Friday evening at their home on Junior High street.

Harold Simpkins won the bridge prize and in serving an appetizing lunch the hostess had the assistance of Mrs. Nelson Weyant.

On June 6, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Simpkins will entertain at their home on Logan street.

Graduate Returns

James C. Jewell, who graduated this week from the Temple Terrace Bible school at Tampa, Fla., has returned to his home here with his aunt, Mrs. H. B. Linton, 130 Boyles avenue.

After spending a while at his home he will take up Christian work at various places.

OUTLOOK DISCOURAGING FOR GENEVA MEETING

IT is expected of a delegate to an international conference which is to consider questions of world importance to be optimistic. It is his duty to look on the bright side and to reflect this in his public statements.

When Norman H. Davis, American delegate to the disarmament conference, therefore, takes a more or less discouraging view of the Geneva meeting which will assemble May 29, it may be taken for certain by the public that the outlook is far from bright.

In taking this attitude, he is placing himself in the class with most observers of recent international developments. Nothing has taken place since the disarmament conference recessed to indicate that the deadlock then evident stands a chance of being broken. France and Germany are as far apart as ever despite attempts by other powers to bring them together. Virtually all nations are engaged in building up their military and naval forces in the frank expectation that no arms-reduction plan will be agreed upon. Alliances are being negotiated openly and there are reports of secret treaties being entered into. Preparations for war are going forward in every part of the world—not immediate war but the conflict which every country seems to regard as inevitable.

It is true, as Mr. Davis says, that there is a growing public demand for a disarmament agreement. But this is not a new development. It has been deident since the first meeting of the disarmament conference. It has been unable, though, to make itself felt. There is no bright prospects that it will be more successful at the approaching meeting.

CUTTING PUBLIC COSTS

The cry is frequently heard, in connection with the public demand for lower government costs, that there can be no further reductions; that expenditures have been cut to the bone and no additional economies are possible.

This usually is the recourse of politicians more intent upon preserving patronage and the other things that give them influence than in protecting the public's interests. It is heard whenever and wherever the movement for economy begins to gain impressive headway. Often these politicians are successful in misleading the public into believing that further cuts would prove disastrous.

But seldom are such claims true. Safe economy usually is possible to a much greater extent than politicians admit.

These observations are prompted by a news item relating to the Ottawa provincial legislative campaign now under way. Instead of 106 members being elected, as had been the case formerly, only 84 will be chosen. The reduction in membership was made in the interests of economy, and, in all probability, in the face of strong opposition by politicians.

There is little doubt, though, that the interests of the taxpayers will be served as well by the 84 members as they would be by 106.

A MAN OF TRIPLE DISTINCTION

There were three phases in the career of Brand Whitlock; sometimes they overlapped. Politics did not divert him from literature; he kept on with his work in fiction while he was mayor of Toledo, nor did his distinguished diplomatic career keep his pen idle. One volume which will long be remembered was his account of events in Belgium, where he was American minister during the German invasion. It can not be read now without a thrill of sympathy for the martyrdom of Edith Cavell.

This diplomatic post was in many respects the high point of his career. With equal tact and courage he saved Brussels from bombardment, and he was responsible for the Belgian relief which kept the people from starvation. Thus he became the idol of the Belgians, who breathed his name in their prayers along with those of the King and Cardinal Mercier.

After the war he was raised from the rank of minister to that of ambassador. But it was as "M. le Ministre" that he won the lasting affection of those he had so well served. He may have been prouder of this than of his novels, good as they were.

LESS TORTURE FOR THE CONDEMNED

On the theory that the law demands justice, but not vengeance, the state of Pennsylvania has changed the time of the electrocution of condemned prisoners at the Rockview prison from seven o'clock in the morning to a half hour past midnight.

Most persons are familiar with the stories of executions which say that the man awaiting execution slept soundly, and in the morning partook of a hearty breakfast of ham and eggs before going to the electric chair. The warden at Rockview dissents from this. He says the prisoner usually tosses on his bunk all night, nervously counting the hours.

The state has no desire to be unnecessarily cruel. The tendency in our time has been to make death as painless as possible. That is the chief reason for changing from hanging to electrocution. In some states lethal chambers have been introduced as still more humane. Even those who must firmly believe in capital punishment will approve the shortening of the "last long mile."

IT STILL IS THE BEST SELLER

Despite the frequently heard claim that humanity has loosened its grip on religion, the Bible still is the world's best seller. The Bible society reports from London that 10,933,203 volumes were sold during the past twelve months and in that time the scriptures were translated into eleven new languages. That certainly does not give the impression there is less interest in things religious than was the case a few years ago.

The real savior of France, however, was General d'Faut.

If people mimic the movies, why not show the stars laughing merrily as they pay their taxes.

A Mexican judge expresses the belief that many actresses get divorces "just for publicity." One must wonder where the judge has been all these years.

A white man outshot Indians in an archery contest in Kansas City. Their native coach explained that the redmen were "out of practice." He might have emphasized the deteriorating effects of civilization.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

READER: You take things too seriously. You must be a solemn fellow.

WRITER: I hope you don't mind if I disagree. I don't think I take things too seriously. But even if I did, how else is one to take things? You can't laugh your way all through life.

READER: Why not? The laughers are a good sort and very useful, and they lighten life beautifully for all around them.

WRITER: That's true, they do. But even a laugh, now that I think of it, may be a most serious person, laughing because he sees in to the heart of things.

READER: You're quibbling again; you're just trying to be smart.

WRITER: No, really, I'm not. I think every man or woman MUST take life seriously. If you don't, you are frivolous. If you don't, you miss the cream of the jest or the joy of the adventure and you never dig down to the bed-rock of living. You float on every vagrant breeze or an idea or an event and follow no charted course through the years.

READER: How can any man follow any charted course through this life? The forces in which he lives are so mighty and so ruthless that he is hardly more than a wisp in the wind or a leaf on the stream. He's fooling himself if he tries to be too serious.

WRITER: Nevertheless, a man or a woman should decide what is serious and what is not. If he is playing a game of golf or football or bridge—he must take the rules seriously, obey them, use them; he must try to exhaust every possibility of the game and enjoy it to the full. But he must not let it become the major element in his life. If he does, he is light-minded, not serious at all. My idea is that a man must be serious about life, but must not take himself too seriously. He isn't particularly important, but some of the things he does and the thoughts he thinks ARE important.

READER: You remind me about that old saying that life is a tragedy for those who feel, a comedy for those who think. Do you agree?

WRITER: Yes, but everybody both thinks and feels. Life's a tragedy for you some days, a comedy for you other times. I wouldn't have it otherwise. Would you?

READER: No, I wouldn't. But don't take things so seriously!

PUT ON THE COAT IF IT FITS

What is your reaction toward a writer who expresses what you know to be your points of deficiency? Are you aroused to a feeling of antagonism?

Do you think he knows your weaknesses and intends to hurt you? Do you think of him as a prying old fogey?

Immediately after reading what you think is a personal thrust at you do you desire to find some way of revenge?

To others you say, he must have many vulnerable points himself, otherwise he could not strike so accurately at those of others.

Be honest for a moment.

Is not your feeling of resentment due to your feeling of guilt? He seems to be familiar with the frailties which you thought securely hidden, therefore you would like to do him injury.

What better proof that you are a violator of laws that, as a good citizen, you should uphold?

When a general accusation makes you squirm, it applies to you. You would not be so sensitive if you did not deserve it.

THE LIVELY STABLE HACK

We thought it galloped right along. We thought the old time hack.

The last known thing in elegance. At coachman dressed in black.

A high silk hat upon his head, to drive us through the town. Was something to be proud of, for the people, up and down.

Who saw us going homeward thus to dodge a passing shower.

All knew that it was costing me two dollars for the hour.

When I was courting Nellie, now and then I'd feel the urge.

To show my deep devotion by a little extra splurge.

Although I was short of money, I believed it worth my while.

To let her neighbors see that I could take her out in style.

And oh how proud we were to ride within that carriage black.

Two dollars for the outward trip, and two to take us back.

A carriage and a spanking team, a coachman and a whip!

Two dollars for the hours, it cost; a quarter for a tip.

These youthful lovers of today in motor cars don't know.

That there is more to life than speed and we were not so slow.

The coachman kept his eyes ahead; I'm sure he knew right well.

'Twas no concern of his if I should steal a kiss from Nell.

But now they dash in motor cars and think that speed's the thing.

That horses are intended to parade a circus ring.

And if they want to spoon a bit, as all young people do.

They have to stop the car and stay right out in open view.

But knowing what I know today, could long lost joys come back.

I'd like to call for Nellie in a lively stable hack.

SMALL TOWN GIRL
Our Own Success Stories are still at the top of the list, so it seems. Another one is being dissected below:

Wallflower Hooley was the small town girl who was raised to be a star electioneer in the town ever since she was big enough to recite "Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star." As she grew older she branched off into more dramatic recitations. Let it be known that no party was a success unless Wallflower was there to emote. The town was giving a public celebration in honor of old Web Fete at the town hall. It was a wonderful event, as it was the first time in 50 years that old Fete had set foot in a barber shop. When he was a young man he vowed he would let his hair and whiskers grow till Bryan was president, and he had just heard that Bryan was dead. It was in the town hall that Wallflower brought down the house; in fact, part of the ceiling fell on her. She gave that tragic recitation, "Oh, Fireman, Save My Child!" It was so REALISTIC that the town idiot turned in the fire alarm which brought the celebration to a close. Everyone said that with talent like hers she ought to enter the movies, or at least the spoken drama. So she packed her grip and decamped for the state of golden opportunities.

A side street in the well-known western movie town. A lunch car. Voice heard within, "One mocha, two on the razz, a pair of squeals, etc." Thus was Wallflower continuing her emoting career.

Soviet Barred From Buying From U. S. Testimony Stronger Than Darrow Report "What Will Succeed NRA?" That's Query

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, May 26.—An effort is being made in New York to obtain a new ruling on credit to Russia. American trade with U. S. S. R. is crippled if not stopped entirely, by the ruling that the Johnson act forbids loans to any country owing money to the United States government.

The Johnson act was aimed at countries which defaulted on war debts.

The money that was loaned to Russia was not to the present government, but to the White Russians to fight the present Russians.

At any rate, the Export-Import bank of the United States government refuses to grant credits—and purchases from the United States are at a standstill.

DARROW REPORT

This writer has been looking over some of the testimony given to the Darrow committee.

That testimony is strong in comparison with the Darrow report. Man after man testified of monopolies (the executives of which drew their own codes) putting the small producer out of business.

WHAT NEXT?

Speculation in New York concerns merely what will succeed the NRA. Large corporations now willfully violate the NRA. Labor is angry over an illusion. The small business man is nearly crushed.

The financial district is not "optimistic"—from its point of view. It is inclined to believe that the trend is toward Darrow's "complete socialization"—And shudders.

SOME LIKE IT

One traveling salesman for a clothing concern said the NRA had saved his firm—and his job.

"The codes prevented undercutting by sweatshops," he explained.

OVERBUYING

Buyers for large stores are more cautious now than a few months ago.

One large store sold for $7.50 and $15 a large supply of expensive dresses with which it had stocked. Loss for that one department, a cool half million.

IN A NUTSHELL

Food consumption in the United States for the first quarter of 1934 was below 1933—lowest depression year.

No recovery is seen possible until all the people can get a normal amount of sustenance in a country which grows the largest amount of foods in the world.

That's the word of welfare officials.

Thus the Roosevelt social program for the next congress is likely to be a broad one. That, however, is many months away.

THEY GET JOBS

As predicted in this column some of the very interests that attack the Brain Trusters offer them jobs—if they're thrown out of government posts.

Dr. Merle Thorpe, who was tossed out of the commerce department, was bewildered upon immediately receiving offers from large corporations—at a large salary.

BRIEF BIOG

In spite of the attacks on the New Deal, Postmaster General Farley does not lose his smile. He can forget his troubles by going to the races or a prize fight—or shrewdly manipulating the political strings.

As chairman of the national Democratic committee, he expects to see seven or eight more Democratic senators in the next congress.

Incidentally, he will be 46 on May 30. He was born at Grassy Point, N. Y. A list of the lodges and the societies to which he belongs would fill a column.

MINUTE BIOG

There has been talk recently that U. S. Supreme Court Justice James Clark McReynolds would retire soon.

Justice McReynolds is known as one of the hide-bound conservatives of the court.

He was born at Elkton, Ky., on Feb. 3, 1862—thus is 72.

He is unmarried.

He is a graduate of Vanderbilt university, Nashville, Tenn., and of the University of Virginia law department.

He was practicing law in Nashville when, in 1903, he was appointed assistant attorney general of the United States. Following four years in Washington, he resigned and moved to New York.

Woodrow Wilson, upon assuming the presidency, appointed McReynolds attorney general of the United States on March 5, 1913.

The story told is that President Wilson desired a more progressive (politically) attorney general, thus appointed McReynolds a supreme court justice on Aug. 29, 1914.

Thus, for 20 years, Justice McReynolds has been rated on the ultra-conservative side of the bench.

BISHOP A. W. LEONARD

"The Cause and Cure of War" will be the subject of the address that Bishop Adna Wright Leonard, Pittsburgh, head of the Pittsburgh area of the Methodist Episcopal church, will deliver at the public anti-war rally in the First M. E. church on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The Rev. C. S. Joshua, pastor of the Croton M. E. church and chairman of the committee on arrangements, announced today that the plans for Bishop Leonard's visit were completed. Attorney W. Walter Braham is to preside tomorrow as chairman.

The bishop is to play a leading part Sunday morning in the 113th anniversary exercises of the Grove City M. E. church and will motor here immediately afterward.

For a time, the president of the American college in Rome, Italy, Bishop Leonard comes here with a wide knowledge of world affairs and with a keen international understanding which well qualifies him to discuss the war subject.

His appearance here is being sponsored by the Lawrence county council on the Cause and Cure of War.

First Methodist Interesting Sunday

Morning Service Will Be In Nature Of Annual Congregational Meeting

From the announcements made by the pastor, Dr. Norris A. White, Sunday promises to be a very unusual day at the First Methodist church. The public worship service at 11 a. m. will be in part in the nature of an annual congregational meeting. There will be special music, an appreciation of "Old First Church" by a prominent layman, and an explanation of the program and budget of the church for the ensuing year, which begins June 1. No special appeal for money will be made, but the every member canvass is to follow during the week. While this service is more especially for the members all others will be welcome, also.

In the evening, special "Junior Night" will be observed, with music by the large vested Junior Choir and a brief message by the pastor, Dr. White, on "God's Children, the Peacemakers."

Vets Will Have Memorial Program

Annual Memorial Day Service Will Be Presented In Croton M. E. Church

Impressive services in memory of the veterans of American Wars will be presented in Croton M. E. church Sunday morning by the Harry L. McBride Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

A setting, reminiscent of Flanders Fields, will be arranged on the pulpit and the officers of the post headed by Commander Geo. Christoph will take part in the services. These services were broadcasted over the radio last Sunday evening and attracted considerable interest. Rev. C. S. Joshua, pastor of the church, stated today that the new pipe organ of the church will be in use Sunday, and that the silver trophy cup, which the congregation won by their record attendance at Sunday school and church services two weeks ago, will be presented at this time.

Could They Live On In Their Home?

A mother's loving care is the rightful heritage of every child. That care need not be lost to a family suddenly deprived of its bread-winner. The Equitable's Family Income Policy will provide a liberal income until the children are grown, permitting the mother to devote her time to the children and the home. After they become self-supporting the full face amount of the policy is then paid to the mother in cash.

Juniors Present Rose Court Rites

Children Of Margaret Henry Home Present Entertainment In Pleasing Manner

Beautifully exemplified was the Rose Court ceremony of the juniors members of the W. B. A. Friday evening in the I. O. O. F. hall, East Washington street, when before about 200 members and friends they initiated a large class from Butler.

The ritualistic work was perfectly presented by the little misses, who were charming in their white frocks, bearing the red roses, which were symbolic of the order. Their work showed splendid training by their supervisor, Mrs. Myrtle Rohrer, who conducted them also in an intricate drill.

As the exemplification came to a conclusion, Mrs. Rohrer acted as mistress of ceremonies for an entertaining program, which opened with a reading by little Tommy Frazier, after which the children from the Margaret Henry home were presented in a most excellent playlet, "The Dolls Come to Life," in which the 44 children all took part, under the direction of Mrs. Lydia Green.

They portrayed the parts of Dutch dolls, Indian dolls, Irish dolls, farm-dolls and lots of dolls, with their clever singing, dancing and acrobatics, pleasing the large group.

The farmer dolls, in their overalls, presented a perfect drill and chorus work. Their program closed with an ensemble rendition of "The Flying Trapeze."

The next on the program was a beautiful drill by the juniors, from Butler, who in their orderly dresses of shades representing colors of the organization, presented a pretty picture as they were directed by Mrs. Alice McGlinchey.

There followed a reading by Anita McCracken; a sketch by Betty and Myrtle Irene Rohrer and Eleanor Noyling; a violin number by Ida Jean Mitchell, accompanied by Jessie Gilbert; reading, Ida Jean Mitchell; solo, Bobby Bohn, and a reading by Vivian Smith of Butler.

The group was then invited to the dining room where a delicious menu of refreshments was served by Mrs. W. J. Klingsmith, Mrs. Louise Vickery, Mrs. John Earl, Mrs. Alice Davis, Mrs. Rebecca McKissick and Mrs. Ethel Thomas.

The tables were a marvel of beauty with their clever decorations in the Review colors, red and white. At one long table the special guests were seated; this was centered by a centerpiece in the form of a red umbrella, from which streamers reached to the tall red tapers at the ends, and each place was marked by a small confection basket in the form of a closed umbrella, a bow and arrow and peppermint sticks, while the "mickey mouse" r-pkins were tucked into red stars.

The remaining long tables were centered with a mammoth red rose, with other appointments matching the guest table.

The success of the evening's exemplification and entertainment was due to the perfect planning of Mrs. Myrtle Rohrer.

Varied Plans Are Held By Seniors

On Court House Hill

Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard reports that five railroad trespassers have been placed in the county jail during the past two days. It is said that the different railroads are putting on a fresh campaign for a month against trespassers. They are arrested and taken to the different jails in the counties through which the roads pass.

Virgil Richards of Pittsburgh, a member of the United States international rifle team, visited County Treasurer William O. Pitts yesterday. Mr. Richards, who travels for a big firearms firm, sold Pitts a rifle some time ago and was anxious to know how he liked it. Pitts is one of the crack shots of the Bessemer gun club and gave Richards an earfull on the scores made by the club.

Deputy Sheriff Ben Hartland yesterday served papers on E. Robson and Elizabeth Knolley in a case brought by Mr. and Mrs. George E. Haggerty to secure possession of a piece of land in Little Beaver township over which there has been some dispute.

If it is decided to go ahead with the erection of a new court house, it is likely that some changes will be made in the arrangements of the rooms, as originally designed by the architect. A committee of the bar association has been appointed to study the interior arrangements and it is understood are ready to recommend some changes that it is believed would add to the convenience of the different offices.

The west abutment of the new bridge at Rose Point has been completed and piling is now being driven for the east abutment, county commissioners learned on a visit to the site. Work seems to be proceeding rather slowly in view of the importance of the road, and the urgent demand that it be finished as quickly as possible. From present indications the bridge will not be ready to be thrown open to public travel for several months.

County Treasurer William O. Pitts expected to be able to mail out the county tax cards the middle of this week, but the work of comparing them with the tax books was not to be completed. The cards will be mailed the first of next week.

Deputy Prothonotary Jack Edgar, who recently underwent an operation at the Jameson Memorial hospital, has so far recovered that he is able to walk about his home. It is expected that he will be able to be back at his desk in a few days.

AROUND CITY HALL

Police chronology for 24 hours ending at 3:30 p. m. May 24, six arrests on charges as follows: drunkenness and disorderly conduct 1; complaint of mother 1; suspicion 1; drunkenness 1 and disorderly conduct 1.

Police court: a drab room, devoid of all excepting officials, policemen and curious: a place where signs come often and tears; wife complaining against son; wife complaining for the first time in years, both mother and son stood defendants owing to a domestic quarrel. He was discharged, she imprisoned. Police court is a place to keep away from unless one wants to worry about other people's woe.

It is hoped that Cascade boulevard which underwent a calcium chloriding for almost its entire width will be completely coated with the material before Memorial day when at least 15,000 to 25,000 persons are expected to journey to Cascade Park for recreation and amusement purposes.

When a local citizen requested Wilson avenue be paved yesterday council suggested the property owners combine their money, purchase calcium chloride and have it placed over the street. According to council its costs no more than oil and will not be "tracked" through the house.

Although Jack Young, colored, is the dog catching force of the city there is one man who intends to see that the owner of a dog is treated fairly, and the aforementioned gentleman is none other than Chief of Police Haven. The dog catcher is not permitted to go on property to catch a dog.

For the first time in the history of city hall folk they saw a street car get a ride on a motor truck yesterday. The street car was one of those recently sold, and minus its wheels, was being transported to a spot along one of the creeks where it will serve as a cabin for campers.

There is a sign alongside the city building in East street which reads "No Parking" Indications are persons who don't respect it will receive a tag for violating the order. During the past week one woman paid the city $5.00 for two traffic violations. She received two cards, failed to report as specified and had to pay extra fees.

City council business Friday was rather slow. Solicitor White introduced measures completing a deal whereby some persons will receive several lots the city sold for delinquent taxes. A relative of one of the council purchased a lot. He declined to vote on the measure.

Council, upon advice from the city solicitor has refused to accept from a concern flasher signals which the company offered to erect free on two highways bordering the city lines. The city is permitted only to erect directional and traffic signs within the city according to Solicitor White.

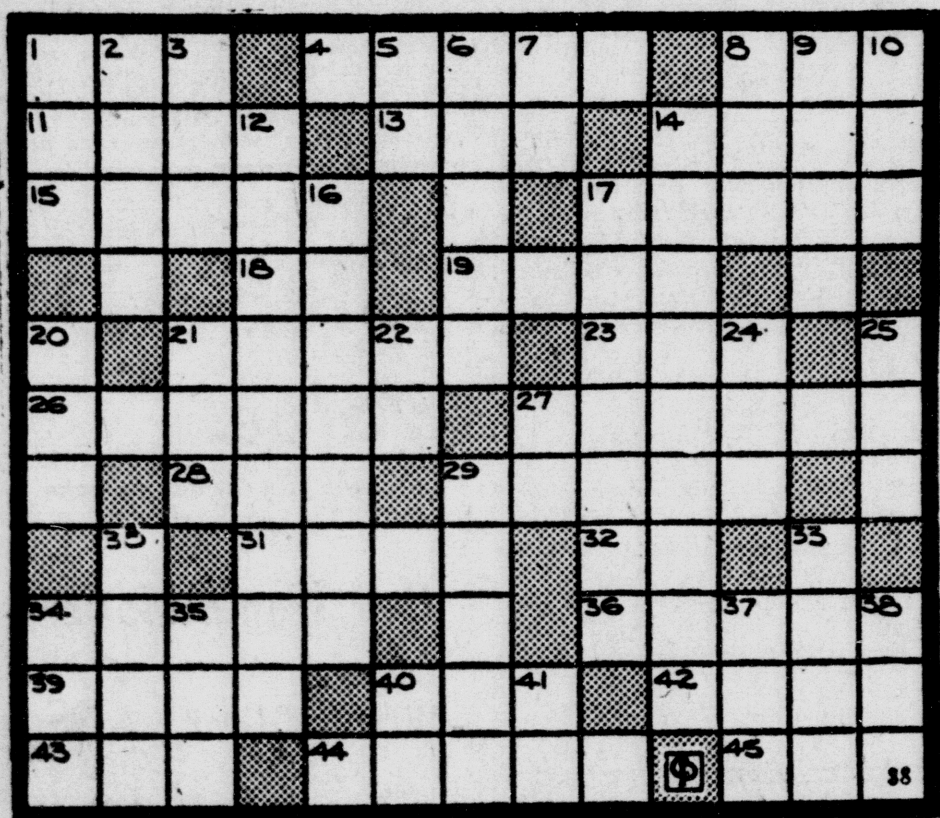

May 26th.

MEMORIAL DAY PLANS
At the Boy Scout court of honor, assignments for Memorial Day duty were worked out by Commissioner Ralph F. Davis and scoutmasters present.

Troops generally are asked to report to the cemeteries named below on Memorial Day morning, those having uniforms to wear them, and the scouts prepared to do what they can in assisting people in preparing grave plots for decorating, getting water for flowers and so on. Scouts are asked to remember the service they are giving and conduct themselves accordingly. Assignments for special service will be made as soon as the Memorial Day committee signifies the number of scouts it needs for this purpose. The troop assignments to cemeteries are as follows:

Troop V-1, St. Vitus cemetery, Shenango township; troops 2, 6, V-17 report downtown at Penn theater, 9 o'clock.

Troop 3, Graceland; troop 4, Valley View and Catholic cemetery in seventh ward. Troop V-5, Oak Park, with troops V-18 and V-37. Troop V-21, St. Joseph's cemetery. Troop 7, Polish National Catholic cemetery. Troop 9, King's Chapel and Greenwood. Troop V-13, Greenwood. Troop 14, St. Mary's cemetery. West

Pittsburgh 1, Tyndall and Savannah cemeteries. East Brook 1, Briar Hill cemetery. West Wilmington V-1 and New Bedford V-1, with Bessemer 1, services in those communities as designated by the respective scoutmasters. New Castle 55, assisting V-5, V-18 and V-37 at Oak Park.

A number of scoutmasters promised leadership service in connection with this good turn.

School Library Has Exhibition

Interesting Collection Of Old Pictures And Books On Display

In the library of the Administration Building of the Public Schools there is an interesting collection of old books and pictures just now. Text books that were used back about the time of the Civil War, pictures of students and teachers of other days, all of them interesting because of their age.

Edward E. McConaghy recently presented a picture to the library which brings back memories. It is a picture of the New Castle teaching force taken many years ago.

How many no one is quite sure. Prof. J. P. Hervey and Prof. Moser, the writing teacher were young men. Miss M. Kate Stockman who retires this year is shown as a young woman fresh in the teaching profession.

Another picture is that of Dr. C. C. Green as a young man of 17 taking with the students of the first school he ever taught in Clarion County. The exhibit is one that is attractive to any person who ever went to the public schools in New Castle.

Hanlon Returns From Motor Meet
B. N. Hanlon, secretary of the New Castle Motor Club returned today from Wilkes-Barre, Pa., where he attended the annual convention of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation. One thing stressed in the convention was the attempts which will be made in the next General Assembly to divert moneys from the highways department to other funds.

The federation has always stood firmly against any diversion of the highway funds and expect to put up a strenuous fight against such an attempt in the next General Assembly. To divert such funds means the beginning of a general breakdown in the highway system of Pennsylvania.

Move To Stop Mispractices In Relief Here

Warn That Relief Orders Are For Food Alone; To Halt Gouging

Prosecution procedures will be taken against New Castle and Lawrence county merchants who fill food relief orders partly in food and partly in cash instead of food alone, if the practice continues, officials of the Lawrence county emergency relief board warned today.

Uncover Cases Today
The county relief authorities said the warning would not have been necessary had it not been for the discovery this morning of two plain cases of violation. Names of the violators were not disclosed.

"We want to play fair with every store owner, but we want them to play fair with us as well," commented Dr. G. S. Bennett, board chairman. "The rules are known—and it's known that cash is taboo in the relief orders. The orders must be filled entirely with food."

Dr. Bennett pointed out that very little trouble has been experienced in this matter here, but, he added, there has been some. He wants to prevent any violators from sharing the relief business.

The movement to prosecute where direct violations occur is state-wide, it was pointed out. In Philadelphia early this week a grocery manager paid a fine of $100 and costs for providing cash for a part of food orders instead of food. The state relief board holds the stores responsible.

Alert for "Gougers"
While a close watch is being kept in this respect, it also became known that relief officials are examining more closely the present relief rolls to determine if there exists any outright misrepresentation. These cases, Dr. Bennett referred to as "gougers" and said the prosecution against them will be just as severe or more so as that against store violators. Employment of additional investigators today opened the way for a more thorough examination of relief cases.

Chairman Bennett, in speaking of the violations, urged the co-operation of individuals in the matter of relief administration. He said that worthy cases would not be affected but that penalties in "phony" cases would be severe.

Negress Aged 109

Pittsburgh Doctors Marvel At Strength Of Woman, Leg
Is Taken Off

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, May 26.—Life that already has been unbelievably full was being prolonged by surgical skill and attention today for Mrs. Henrietta White, negress, who moved up from the deep south 20 years ago when a sprightly great-grandmother of 89.

The mother of six children when the emancipation proclamation freed her of slavery's chains during the Civil War, she lay in Passavant hospital here today, recovering—despite her 109 years—from the amputation of her right leg.

Age that too often forestalls success on the operating table has treated her kindly. Doctors and hospital attaches reported she was "doing well and in no immediate danger."

Dry gangrene of the toes, which spreads quickly and had already caused hardening of the arteries in the patient's foot, necessitated the removal of her leg, the doctors explained.

THE NEW COURT HOUSE AND ITS LOCATION

When we as citizens of Lawrence County come to consider a location proper for the new Court House, we should use whatever of good judgment God has given us. To do otherwise is to invite the condemnation of all the future. Is it too much to suggest that we should give consideration to the convenience of those who are to come after us, and to the future development of our County and its County Seat?

When it would be good business to locate a Post Office, a Bank, or a mercantile establishment, at or near the present location, then it would be proper to consider putting the new Court House on the same spot. What the old location and its environments lack, the location which we propose has; namely, utmost convenience.

The requirement universally observed in locating government and other public buildings is for a central location; in other words, convenient and of easy access. Department stores and business houses are placed within the stream of traffic, or as near to it as possible. Why should this vindictive judgment be ignored in choosing a site for the most important public building in the County? Every improvement of modern business methods takes into consideration the time element, and the saving of time is regarded as a real accomplishment. How foolish, therefore, to locate the County's Court House at a point where hundreds of people daily must waste a half-hour's time in order to reach there and transact the business of perhaps only a few minutes.

When we consider the question of convenience, the Carnegie location is in a class all by itself. It will be convenient to get there, and it will be convenient when you get there. It is touched by more main arteries of travel than any other two locations which might be thought of. The approach on the West is by Jefferson and Moravia Streets. Mercer Street runs directly to a point opposite the approximate center of this property. The proposed Mercer Street bridge would connect the two. The principal North and South highway of the City, Mill Street and Highland Avenue, is the Eastern boundary, and Croton Avenue coming from the East, ends at the Northeast corner of the location. It extends from Mill Street on the East to Jefferson Street on the West, and includes more than nine acres of ground. It is a little more than one short square from what is regarded as the center of New Castle's business section, and is level enough for a circus ground. Convenient as the Carnegie location is to reach, its convenience will be outstanding when you get there. Cover a lot with a public building and what have you? The thing you don't have, is what this location has—space, and plenty of it. Space for additional buildings, space for parking, space for all future time, or for any future need. There is no argument here, and no real basis of comparison. Place the Court House on this location, and those coming from the various parts of the County may do their errand to the Court House, park their car, and take care of their shopping in one operation. There is no argument here, either.

More than any other proposed location, the Carnegie site combines the features which are preeminent requirements in the light of common sense; such as, plenty of room, ease of access, immediate proximity to the main business center, nearness to the geographical center and the center of population, and unquestioned economy.

Those charged with the responsibility of locating the new Court House cannot long escape the logic of a few facts. There is the fact of nine and eighth tenths acres of ground at a location a little more than one short square from Washington Street. There is the fact that this location is touched and bounded by main street leading out of the City as principal highways reaching to almost every corner of the County. There is the fact of the unusual price; namely, $75,000.00 for more than nine acres of land, including the Carnegie Auditorium, and extending from Mill Street on the East to Jefferson Street on the West. There is the fact that the selection of this location will decrease property valuation for purposes of taxation less than would the selection of any other proposed location. It is assessed for County purposes at approximately $22,000.00.

Will you consider this also: A public building such as a Court House does not always enhance the value of property in the vicinity of its location. In this case you couldn't think of any such favorable result at any other location proposed. It is otherwise with respect to the Carnegie site. This site is in the direction of the logical extension of the business district. However much you may desire it, the public will not travel uphill to places of business. It requires no imagination to conclude that the location of the new Court House on the Carnegie site will enhance property values in a large area immediately adjacent to the main business section of the City, and will continue to do so, thus adding to property valuation for taxation purposes of both County and City. Bring to bear your own judgment, and you will reach this same conclusion.

The placing of the Court House here will give fair and decent consideration to a section of the City which produces such a large percentage of the County's wealth, and provides wages for so many of its citizens. It will make possible the realization of a proposal for the grouping of public buildings. It is centrally located, and is not sectional. It is not a South Side proposition; it is a County proposition. The South Side is but a part of the County. This proposed location is not within the territory of the South Side; being immediately south of the Neshannock Creek does not make it so. We have nothing to sell, and no member of this organization has any property that can be affected.

The facts of the case lead to but one sensible conclusion—THE SELECTION OF THE CARNEGIE SITE.

Today

In Big New York, Trouble.
Everybody Worries,
Growls.

A Queen's Granddaughter.
Death Beckons, What Of
It?

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

NEW YORK, May 25.
RETURNING to this big city you always find somebody complaining,
"viewing with alarm."

The American Iron and Steel Institute, which means all big steel men, employing great armies of workers, is meeting here, "all hot and bothered," as young people say.
Holding up a warning forefinger,
each big steel man, except a few,
extrawise, who let others talk, says:

"We are being flooded with too much law. Labor unrest is the biggest obstacle to recovery.
We deplore restrictive influences
in business."

A BIG STEEL strike that would tie up the whole industry is set for June 16, unless steel companies accept union control. Mr. Tom M.
Girdler, head of the important Republic Steel Company, is quite downcast. He says:

"Before I'll spend the rest of my life dealing with Lewis, head of the mine workers, I'll retire
and raise apples and potatoes."
He will close down his business,
rather than "yield to union dictation."

It would be a tragedy if he should do that, start raising apples and potatoes and then have the government say to him:

"You can't do that, unless you recognize the apple and potato
union."

In these times it is as well to stick to your old business, and bear those ills you have, than fly to others (unions included) that you know not of.

"LABOR AND CAPITAL," that ought to love each other, work together, and take advantage of Uncle Sam's present readiness to dish out his billions, seem to love each other
not at all.

In Toledo, national guardsmen, in gas masks, a fearsome sight, were busy yesterday subduing strikers.
Tear gas is efficient, and leaves no
dead, an improvement on the old Carnegie strike.

IN MINNEAPOLIS and St. Paul,
three regiments of the Minnesota
guard were held under arms to help
police, if the truck drivers' strike
should prolong the riots of two days past. A photograph, more eloquent than words, shows a "special officer," with a club in his hand,
knocked unconscious by a striker,
just finishing with a baseball bat
the swing that laid the special officer low.

THE COUNTRY, with all the protests, strikes and worries, has not lost confidence in President Roosevelt's ability to solve problems. To the Literary Digest question: "Do you on the whole approve or disapprove the policies of the Roosevelt administration?" Ten more cities vote "yes" by 24,809, against 14,805
"no."

ALFONSO, UNTIL recently King of Spain, wants to get rid of his wife, the former Queen Victoria of Spain. To many that will seem hard to believe, considering that Victoria is no less a "somebody" than a grand-daughter of Victoria, Queen of England and Empress of India.
Alfonso cannot take the simple Mexico or Reno route. The Catholic church, to which he belongs,
recognizes no divorce as such, although it does, rarely, "annul" marriages for special reasons.

ALFONSO WILL find it hard,
after sitting side by side on the throne with Queen Victoria for so long, and in view of her family of children, to secure the requested annulment of a marriage solemnized

by the Catholic church.

Vatican authorities, questioned,
indicate that the King's request
"shows a misconception of church
law, which grants annulment of marriage only for the gravest moral and spiritual reasons." He will not get that annulment.

GEORGE ZIMMERMAN, seventy-five-years old retired restaurant
man, is told by his relentless doctor:

"You can't possibly live more than six months longer. Your heart will do well if it lasts as long as that."

Does George Zimmerman beat his breast like the ancient mariner, that heard the loud bassoon? Does he sink into listless despair? Does he,
like Job, arise, and rend his mantle,
and shave his head and fall down
upon the ground and say:

"Naked I came out of my mother's womb, and naked shall I return thither."
Not at all.

GEORGE ZIMMERMAN says:
"Six months give me time
enough to wind up my affairs,
and see as many of my good friends as are living."

He discovers, happy man, that at the age of seventy-five, he has seventy-five friends left, and invites them all to the finest dinner that a retired restaurant man can invent.
Cheerfully he tells them:

"My heart is unreliable. I can't live more than six months.
I might not live more than six minutes. I wanted to see you all again. So here's to your health."
That is a philosopher.

BRAND WHITLOCK, of Ohio, is dead. Only sixty-five years old, and you realize how rapidly time and reputations pass when you reflect that more than half the millions
that see this statement will remember only vaguely who Brand Whitlock was, and his work as United States ambassador to Belgium in the big war. There are already millions, full grown, to whom the "big war"
is already classed, mentally, with the Civil War and the War of 1812.
Men twenty-five years old now were only nine years old when the war ended.

STOCKS, IN case you are interested, were "higher in listless
trading," which means that hope springs eternal in the Wall street
breast, but does not spring very high.

It is a case of:
Letting "I dare not" wait upon "I would."

Like the poor cat in the adage.
Every solemn Wall street speculator knows that good old times will return some day. Let the new era do what it may, but the "when?" is what disturbs them.

Dempsey, Soreli Plan Hook-Up At New York Garden

Will Take Over Garden For Promotion Of Fights On Percentage Basis

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 26.—Madison Square Garden, which is promoting the Baer-Carnera title fight; Jack Dempsey, who has 7½ percent of Baer; and Louis Soreli, who has 25 percent of Carnera, today are planning a hook-up that will stun the boxing world.

On unimpeachable authority, the International News Service learned today that Colonels John S. Hammond, chairman of the board of directors, and John Reed Kilpatrick, president of Madison Square Garden, are negotiating the lease of the Garden for boxing to Dempsey and Soreli.

Under the proposed plan, the Garden would forego all its boxing activities and Dempsey and Soreli would take over the fight end on a rental and percentage basis.

No Confirmation

Col. Hammond today refused either to affirm or deny the Dempsey-Soreli proposition. All he would say was: "I am not in position to say anything except that I have the highest regard for Jack Dempsey and that I've had several recent conversations with him and we did not talk about the weather."

The writer knows that Hammond, Kilpatrick and Soreli were in secret conference in Hammond's office in the Garden for several hours yesterday at the end of which time Hammond made the foregoing statement.

There have been signs of friction recently between Dempsey and Baer. How much of this was for public consumption and how much was real only they themselves know. The other day Dempsey was reported as saying if he had to pick the winner of the Carnera-Baer fight, he would have to choose Carnera.

Harvard Leads In Track Meet

Harvard Ahead Of Stanford 10 To 8 In I. C. A. A. Meet

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

PHILADELPHIA, May 26.—It's going to be everybody for himself in a pretty general brawny or brawl over the intercollegiate A. A. A. championship in track and field this afternoon, with the suddenly inflamed East scenting a victory in its own tracks.

The first time in ten years, it had Harvard leading the way in overnight qualifiers, with 10, as against the 8 of Stanford, the champions, presumptive.

But this aspect of the situation was somewhat spurious. In view of the fact that Stanford's 8 figured to score no worse than 19 points and Harvard's ten no better than 11.

It mightn't even have been close, in fact, if Sam Klopstock, of Stanford, hadn't folded in one heat of the high hurdles and fallen in another, thus putting the burden of proof on the rest of Stanford's seven-man team.

Track Is Heavy

Yesterday's rain, of course, had much to do with the general run of low-grade performances and perhaps the elimination of Dick Hardy, 1933 sprint champion; Charley Nimmo, Stanford, in the 800 and double Klopstock, too. Anyhow, clear weather, fast going and a few records was the forecast.

John Lyman, the 54-foot shot putter, may react to the more favorable conditions sufficiently to press Jack Torrance's recently created world record of 55 feet 1½ inches. Bob Kiesel, the California bullet, can't seem to miss the games record of 10 6-10 for 100 metres. Deacon Stanford, and Brown, Yale, might force each other up above 14 feet 5 inches in the pole vault; and with nobody to distress him in the high jump, George Spitz, N. Y. U., might even get up around Walter Marty's 6 feet 9½.

Besides, there's that 1,500-metre final between Bonthron, Gene Venzke, Frank Crowley, Manhattans, and a few others, with Bonthron's 3:54 for the games sure to go and Venzke's 3:52 6-10 American record none too secure.

However, I'd say the chances were against a double-winner repeating in two races like these, whereas Kiesel, barring accidents, should take both sprints with his hands in his pockets.

Lawson Little Is New British Amateur Champ

American College Student Wins Over James Wallace In Finals 14 And 13

By T. C. WATSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PRESTWICK, Scotland, May 26.—W. Lawson Little, rated by a critic a few weeks ago as "just another Stanford student", today won the British amateur championship by shooting one of the greatest golf ever seen in competition.

Little defeated James Wallace, the unemployed Scotch carpenter, who himself was generally unknown a week ago, by 14 up and 13 to go.

Shoots 66 Score.

Shooting a blazing 33-33 for a 66 in his morning round to give him a lead of 12 up, Little went out in the afternoon determined to bring the match to a speedy conclusion and this he did in decisive fashion. It required only five holes for him to close out the little Scot in the afternoon.

Stunning Defeat.

Little's par-shattering golf enabled him to give the Scot one of the worst lickings ever dealt out in the final round of a major championship. Only Bobby Jones' decisive swamping of Al Espinoza in the American open at Winged Foot in New York could compare with it. And Jones never belted a golf ball with more proficiency than the Lealand Stanford student did here today.

Wallace failed to win even one hole. He couldn't break through the wall of pars, birdies and even an eagle that Little built as he went along. What Wallace did do was to halve nine holes. And that did him no good whatever.

Scarazzos And Unions Take Victories In League Games Friday

Scarazzos defeated the Audias 9 to 6, and the Unions bested the O. C. team 11 to 4 in American league softball games played last night. The Tolans and Pump Stations game was postponed.

SCARAZZOS WIN SIXTH

The Scarazzos won their sixth league victory by taking the measures of the Audias 9 to 6 at B. & O. Field. Maiella and DeRoss were the pitchers for the two teams. Eight errors hurt the chances of the Audias. Both teams had 11 hits apiece. The Audias rallied in the ninth and scored three runs but fell short of enough to tie the Scarazzos. The leading hitters of the game were Marino, Turco, Pascarella, DiMuccio, Zingaro and Santangelo.

Pirates, Yanks League Leaders

Pirates Are Breezing Along In Fine Shape; Yankees Starting To Slip

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 26.—For years and years, the National league had the close races while one or two clubs were fighting it out for the American league pennant with the rest nowhere.

But this year the pendulum has swung the other way and today we find the league-leading Yankees under the 800 mark and the tail-end White Sox at 400. In the National league today exactly 400 points separates the Pirates at 633 and the Reds at 233.

The Pirates already are 12 full games ahead of the Reds while the Yankees are only six in front of the White Sox, and a few days could see the Yanks buried in the second division and the Chicago entry up in the first division.

Yanks Lose Again.

If the Yanks continue as they've been going lately they'll land in the basement with a thud. They dropped another to the White Sox yesterday, 7 to 5, when George Earnshaw outpitched George Uhle, Danny McFayden and Vanatta.

The fast stepping Indians bounced Rhodes, Pennock and Johnson around for 24 hits to convince the Red Sox that they really needed Wes Ferrell, whom the Indians traded to the Red Sox yesterday. With that kind of hitting behind him Pearson breezed along to win, 18 to 3.

Earl Whitehill held the surprising Browns to five hits and the Senators won, 9 to 3, forcing a three-way tie in the standing with the Browns, Tigers and themselves.

Athletics Win.

Mickey Cochrane's Tigers made five messy errors to hand the Athletics a game, 9 to 7. Bob Kline, one of Connie Mack's young hopefuls, who went in after the sixth, got credit for his sixth straight victory, all of them in relief roles. The young man apparently is worth his weight even under the new gold standard and seems deserving of a starting assignment.

The National league was washed out by rain.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Barney Ross, lightweight champion, has packed up his training togs at his rural training camp outside New York city and will taper off today and tomorrow in Gotham for his battle with Jimmy McLarnin, welterweight champion, in the Madison Square garden bowl on Long Island, Monday night. Sixty five thousand fans are expected to pay $300,000 to see the clash which George Chip, former middleweight champion, believes will be won by McLarnin.

Waynesburg college and Virginia Wesleyan meet in track and field events today at Buckhannon, W. Va.

Ty Ryan, infielder of Charleroi, Mid-Atlantic league, has been transferred to Charleroi in the Penn State league which is a Tigers' farm.

Frankie Ross, Lawrence County league umpire, is slated to take up his Mid-Atlantic arbiter's duty next week.

Washington & Jefferson vanquished Bethany in tennis yesterday, seven to two. West Virginia beat Duquesne, six to three.

Rally In MarketRAILROAD SHARES
ARE IN DEMAND(International News Service)
NEW YORK, May 26.—Stimulated by President Roosevelt's concession in favor of the senate stock market bill, the list proceeded to rally further today with gains in the principal issues running to more than a point.

Trading, though, continued highly restricted and gains of a point in many instances were scored on the turnover a few hundred shares.

The commodity markets again displayed a strong tone. Wheat advanced another cent a bushel on top of a 3 cent run up yesterday and cotton rallied 25 cents a bale after early hesitancy. Silver, however, continued depressed losing nearly quarter cent an ounce.

The continued strength in wheat and other commodity shares brought a renewal of demand for Montgomery Ward and other mail order shares which had been sold quite consistently over the past several weeks.

Railroad shares also were in further demand with Atchafalaya up nearly 2 points. New York Central, heretofore, a constant weak spot reflected a better grade of support and rebounded nearly a point to the best levels of the recovery. Lackawanna, Southern Railway, Southern Pacific and several of the lower priced issues also participated in the rebound.

Amusement stocks also were in slight demand with both Warner Bros. and Loew's gaining fractionally.

AS TROOPS MET RENEWED RIOTING WITH GAS BOMBS

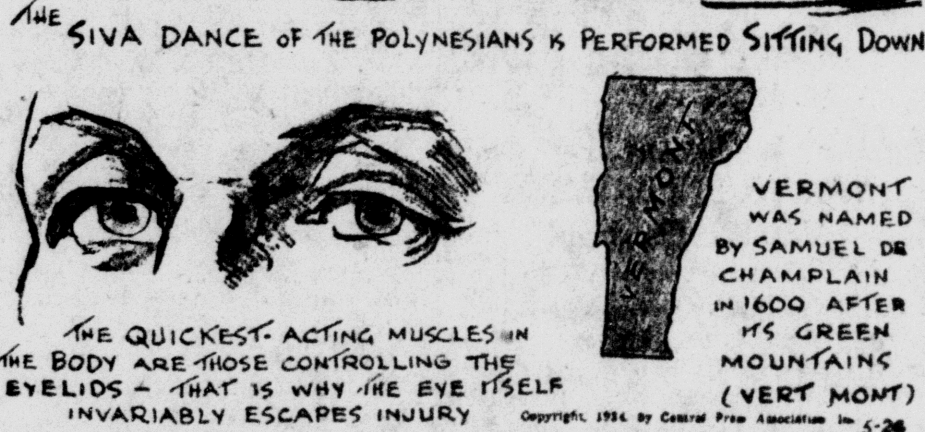

New photos from strike-torn Toledo, O., where riots at the Electric Auto-Lite company have brought clashes between Ohio National Guardsmen and strikers as federal mediators sought to settle the strike. Several of the strikers are dead, many others injured. These photos show, top, the guardsmen outside the company plant as they formed to keep the crowd of strikers back, and below, a barrage of tear gas, laid down when the soldiers sought to drive strikers from the company property and nearby streets.

STRIKERS HURL STONES AS THEY RETREAT FROM OHIO GUARDSMEN

Retreating slowly before an attack of the Ohio National Guards, strikers and sympathizers are snapped in this graphic photo as they stopped to hurl bricks and stones at the soldiers in the vicinity of the Electric Auto-Lite company plant in Toledo, O. Undaunted by the action of the soldiers in opening fire on their ranks, killing two and wounding five others, the strikers waged an almost continuous battle with the invading militia, which has set up a restricted area around the strike-torn plant.

City Street Cars Being Painted And Renovated

Street Car Company Joins In Spring Clean-up Program
In City

New Castle Street Electric Railway employees have commenced cleaning and painting all of the cars used here and within two months 16 of them will have the enhanced appearance of being new cars.

The order to clean up and paint was issued a few days since by T. C. Moore, superintendent. Six men are doing the work at the local car barn.

The men first work on the inside of the car and after it has been thoroughly cleaned, the cleaning is done on the interior after which the cars will receive several coats of tan paint with cream markings.

The front and rear portions, directly above the bumper will be painted white for safety purposes.

The task will require about two months according to the superintendent who pointed out that the painting is done by spray. Some of the paint, naturally lands on the windows and it is slow process to remove the paint. A razor blade is used to scrape away the paint. Approximately one hour is consumed to clean five windows.

Ambridge Workers
Fail To Enthuse
Over Strike Plans

Apathy Is Shown By Steel Workers In City Where Trouble Occurred

(International News Service)
AMBRIDGE, Pa., May 26.—Faced with record payrolls offering incontrovertible evidence of increased employment, organizers for the Amalgamated Association of iron, steel and tin workers today pondered their first rebuff from the ranks, a display of apathy at a meeting of steel workers here.

Only a meager crowd of workers attended the organization meeting, at which Edward Miller, vice president and other officers of the union spoke, outlining the organization's plans for a nation-wide "holiday" in the event they are ignored by operators in their demand for recognition.

Madful of the bloody battle between striking steel workers and "company deputies" at the Spang-Chalfant plant last fall, little sentiment in favor of organization exists here, observers point out.

Amalgamated representatives said that if sufficient interest is manifested, organization of branches in major Ambridge plants would be attempted.

Mr. Roosevelt needn't worry. He called the New Deal "evolution" and the South is still with him.

W. Campbell, baritone and Agnes Skillen accompanist.

Neal Bowman Is Sentenced To Die In Electric Chair

Convicted Former Ohio Insane
Criminal Is Scheduled To Die In Kentucky

(International News Service)

HARRODSBURG, Ky., May 26.—Formal sentence to die August 2 in the electric chair at Eddyville state penitentiary was pronounced today upon Neal Bowman, convicted slayer of a bandit pal, in Mercer Circuit Court here.

The doomed gang chieftain was assured a longer respite, however, when Judge K. S. Alcorn allowed until October 2 for filing an appeal, which will automatically stay the execution. Motion for a new trial was denied.

Bowman, convicted of shooting to death Comer Franklin and throwing his body into Herrington Lake, heard the sentence without show of emotion.

Correct this sentence: "Our object," said the manufacturer, "is to make it so well that the buyer will never need another one."

Americanism: Taking violent exercise in hope of regaining youth; wondering why so many more die of heart trouble.
